

Associate, Buy-Side Equity Research Healthcare (Emerging Markets & Asia Pacific)

Location: London
Start date: June 2026 or by agreement

Who we are

Bellevue's Healthcare Funds & Mandates investment team manages specialized investment strategies focused on biotech, medical technology, healthcare services, and pharmaceutical companies. We invest in market leaders driving medical innovation and disruptive technologies, backed by high-caliber management teams and well positioned to benefit from the ongoing transformation of the global healthcare landscape.

What we offer

As an associate, you will assume coverage of selected equities within our Asia and Emerging market healthcare strategies. You will conduct in-depth company and industry research that directly inform portfolio construction and investment decision-making. The position offers a clear progression path toward an Equity Research Analyst or Portfolio Manager role.

Your profile

- Education: Bachelor's, Master's, or PhD degree (healthcare-related e.g., Biology, Medicine, Natural Sciences, Physiology, Chemistry, Pharmacology) or Finance (e.g., Finance, Economics, Accounting)
- Required Skills and Experience: Foundational knowledge of the healthcare industry (pharmaceuticals, medtech, biotech, hospitals) and financial analysis (Balance Sheet, P&L and Cash Flow Statement interpretation, Excel-based modeling, valuation methodologies like DCF); prior internship or 1-2 years of professional experience in Equity Research (generalist or healthcare-focused)
- Preferred Qualifications: Business-level proficiency in one or more Asian languages; familiarity with the application of AI in the context of Equity Research; CFA designation or progress toward completion

Your responsibility

- Assume primary coverage responsibility for a defined set of equities, developing deep expertise and differentiated insights
- Build and maintain robust, institutional-grade financial models across the healthcare universe, including biotech, pharma, medtech, and healthcare services
- Conduct rigorous industry and company analysis, including conference attendance, on-site visits, and active participation in expert and management calls
- Proactively source and evaluate new investment opportunities, forming well-substantiated recommendations
- Partner closely with the Senior Analyst to produce high-quality research reports, investment notes, and client-facing marketing materials that support investment decision-making
