

Investment focus

The success of the Adamant Global Healthcare Index led to the launch of an investment fund under Luxembourg law that is based on this index in 2016. The BB Adamant Healthcare Index (Lux) Fund tracks the performance of the Adamant Global Healthcare Index (total return). Given its operating costs, the Fund by definition cannot beat the Adamant Global Healthcare Index. Its objective is to outperform the MSCI World Healthcare Index. Foreign currency exposure is not hedged.

Rolling 12-month performance

Source: BelleVue Asset Management, 31.12.2019; all figures in EUR %, total return-methodology
Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results and can be misleading. As the subfund is denominated in a currency that may differ than an investor's base currency, changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes. Performance is shown net of fees and expenses for the relevant share class over the reference period. All performance figures reflect the reinvestment of dividends and do not take into account the commissions and costs incurred on the issue and redemption of shares, if any. Individual costs are not taken into account and would have a negative impact on the performance. With an investment amount of EUR 1,000 over an investment period of five years, the investment result in the first year would be reduced by the front-end load of up to EUR 50 (5%) as well as by additional individual custody charges. In subsequent years, the investment result would also be reduced by the individual custody account costs incurred. The reference benchmark of this class is used for performance comparison purposes only (dividend reinvested). No benchmark is directly identical to a sub-fund, thus the performance of a benchmark is not a reliable indicator of future performance of the sub-fund it is compared to. There can be no assurance that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred.

Any reference to a specific company or security does not constitute a recommendation to buy, sell, hold or directly invest in the company or securities. Where the subfund is denominated in a currency other than an investor's base currency, changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on price and income.

Market review

Stock markets in December were mixed – if your base currency is Swiss francs. Since both the euro and the dollar lost considerable ground against the Swiss franc, performance calculations in these currencies were clearly more positive. The broad MSCI World Index retreated 0.4% over the month (in CHF). The healthcare sector fared slightly better and the MSCI World Healthcare's performance for the month was "a red zero". The BB Adamant Healthcare Index fund ended the month just slightly better, with a "black zero" (1 shares).

Portfolio stocks from the emerging market region delivered a pleasing performance. Shares of Microport, a Chinese medtech manufacturer of cardiology products, were particularly strong, although this was more of a counterreaction to the preceding several months of weakness than a reaction to fundamental developments in December. Evotec, a German biotech firm, was marked up after achieving the third milestone in a diabetes research partnership with Sanofi and pharma multinational Bristol-Myers profited from the presentation of good CAR-T trial data at the important annual meeting of the American Society of Hematology (ASH). For French specialty pharma firm Ipsen and its shareholders, however, December was a disappointing month. A Phase III trial of a drug candidate for the treatment of a rare bone disease was suspended because of adverse events. Ipsen's CEO stepped down shortly after this setback and the company's CFO was appointed CEO ad interim.

General description

The BB Adamant Healthcare Index Fund tracks the performance of the Adamant Global Healthcare Index. Every six months, in April and October, the 40 most attractive stocks in the global healthcare sector are selected for the index. The BB Adamant Healthcare team continuously screens about 600 of the world's 4000 listed healthcare companies based on eight criteria covering company management, product pipelines, operating risks and country-related risks. The index is the property of Bellevue Asset Management and it is independently calculated and published by Standard & Poor's on a daily basis. The Adamant Global Healthcare Index and the BB Adamant Healthcare Index Fund are equally divided into four regions, Western Europe, North America, Japan/Australia and Emerging Markets, and ten stocks are selected from each region. The region with the highest rating, usually North America, can never have an index weighting of more than 35%, so emerging markets figure more prominently in the index. Companies with high valuations and low growth rates will almost never be admitted to the index. Historical index data shows that mid cap stocks typically represent 60-80% of the index and the Asia region accounts for approximately one-third of the index. Furthermore, pharmaceutical stocks are clearly underweighted in comparison with the MSCI World Healthcare Index.

Risk and return profile

The Fund's investment objective is to generate attractive and competitive long-term capital growth. It is particularly suited to investors with an investment horizon of at least 5 years. The Fund is exposed to the risks typical of equity investments.

The calculation of the risk and earnings profile is based on simulated/historical data, which cannot be used as a reliable indication of the future risk profile. The classification of the fund may change in future and does not constitute a guarantee. Even a fund classed in category 1 does not constitute a completely risk-free investment. There can be no guarantee that a return will be achieved or that a substantial loss of capital will not be incurred. The overall risk exposure may have a strong impact on any return achieved by the fund or subfund. For further information please refer to the fund prospectus or KIID.

Liquidity risk

The fund may invest some of its assets in financial instruments that may in certain circumstances reach a relatively low level of liquidity, which can have an impact on the fund's liquidity.

Risk arising from the user of derivatives

The fund may conclude derivatives transactions. This increases opportunities, but also involves an increased risk of loss.

Currency risks

The fund may invest in assets denominated in a foreign currency. Changes in the rate of exchange may have an adverse effect on prices and incomes.

Operational risks and custody risks

The fund is subject to risks due to operational or human errors, which can arise at the investment company, the custodian bank, a custodian or other third parties.

Target market

Chances

- Investments in the 40 most attractive healthcare stocks worldwide.
- Semi-active portfolio management: half-yearly company evaluation and rebalancing.
- Underweighting of pharma and US stocks against the relevant healthcare indices.
- Strong focus on quality mid caps.
- Bellevue – healthcare pioneer since 1993 and today one of the biggest independent investors in the sector in Europe.

Inherent risks

- The fund invests in equities. Equities are subject to strong price fluctuations and so are also exposed to the risk of price losses.
- The fund may invest a proportion of its assets in financial instruments that might under certain circumstances have a relatively low level of liquidity, which can in turn affect the fund's liquidity.
- The fund invests in foreign currencies, which means a corresponding degree of currency risk against the reference currency.
- Investing in emerging markets entails the additional risk of political and social instability.
- The fund may engage in derivatives transactions. The increased opportunities gained come with an increased risk of losses.

You can find a detailed presentation of the risks faced by this fund in the "Special Investment Risks" section of the sales prospectus.
